FIRE IN QUEEN THEATER SPREADS TO HOTEL WACO GUTTING UPPER STORIES

MIDNIGHT BLAZE OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN EATS WAY INTO STUCCO-METAL AIR COVE WALL SENDING SEVENTY-FIVE GUESTS INTO STREETS IN NIGHT CLOTHES—SOUTHLAND BARBER SHOP AND JUNEY DRUG STORE WATER SOAKED.

11 LINES FIRE HOSE PLAY ON FLAMES

FLAMES DESTROY THEATER BUILDING AND BLAZE HOLE INTO WACO HOTEL WALL WITH GOOD HEADWAY GAINED BEFORE FIREMEN WERE AWARE OF THEIR PRESENCE—FIRE STILL RAGING AT 2 A. M.—HOTEL PROBABLE TOTAL LOSS.

Fire history for Sixth and Franklin streets repeated itself in a burst of flame which shot out of the Queen theater entrance at the stroke of twelve last night, totally destroyed, the contents of that building, and then before firemen were aware of its way through the stucco-metal wall of the Waco hotel air cove.

At 2 a. m. this morning eleven streams of fire hose were playing water on the hotel building in an effort to save it from being a total loss. The firemen's fight was a desperate one, but the odds were strongly against them.

The flames, after gaining entrance to the interior of the hotel building, chose to lick their way to the roof and begin a swath of downward destruction.

With the Queen theatre building practically untenable firemen could resort to but one method of getting at the fire which threatened the hotel building. This was to climb to the top of the wonder clothing store, and play streams of water across Sixth street. In this effort they were badly handicapped, however, for not only did the streams fall short, but it appeared an impossibility of human effort to so direct the hose lines that the water would drop into the building.

Instead it fell just over the water cove or hit the eaves, splashing down the side of the building.

Other firemen, in bands of two, meanwhile attempted an entrance to the hotel building from Austin street. In this they were considerably delayed because of the stupendous task of dragging hose to the top story. By this time the floor of the upper story and the walls had been so undermined with fire and water that entrance was hazardous to say the least.

Unavoidable destruction of the fixtures of the Southland barber shop was taking place, and at 2 o'clock the water began to seep through into the Juney drug store with every indication that considerable damage would amount to both places from water ruin. The Southland barber shop especially, gave the appearance of one huge cooling tiled bath tub, with water dripping from imaginary faucets jutting out from every part of the various walls.

There were seventy-five guests in the hotel building when the fire began its destruction of the building. According to A. D. Adams, owner of the hotel, they not only made their exit safely, but most of them secured all valuables belonging to them. To a guest they were transients, he states. Mr. Adams says his loss will be $20,000, with about $10,000 insurance. The building itself owned by A. C. Wiebusch, is valued at $75,000, with about $50,000 insurance.

James Horne owns the Queen theatre building which is a practically total loss. The Southland barber shop and Juney's drug store must count their losses through water ruin. James Terry, manager of the Queen theatre, is not in the city.

McKown who was in the Parker machine, and who was so severely injured was the bartender at the Manhattan buffet.

Near Lorena. The accident happened about two and a half miles east of Lorena, while the two men were coming towards Waco. When the wheel came off the car turned over, but it is stated the men were thrown clear of it, which probably accounts for the fact that they were not cut up very badly. More than one had accident has been recorded at or near this point, and those familiar with the road usually slow down when making the curve. The men left Waco about 8 o'clock Sunday morning and were returning to Waco when the accident happened.

Parker appears to have had a presentiment that he was to be killed suddenly when he did die. He said to friends within the past week, while discussing the uncertain tenure of life: "I don't know just when it will be or just how, but I feel it is certain that when I do go I will go at once, just like falling out of a fifteen-story building or getting hit by a fast mail train; mark it, I am going to go quick as a wink when I do pass out of the stage of action." His prediction was verified within a brief period of its making.

Bell county tax rate is fixed at 58 cents, which is a reduction of seven

Special to The News. Temple, July 15.—The 1917 tax rate for Bell county has been fixed at 58 cents by the county commissioners, which is a reduction of 7 cents over last year. Reductions were made in the jury and court house furniture funds. This does not include good road taxes in the various roads districts of the county. The tax in the Temple road district will be 40 cents and the state tax is expected to be 45 cents, state school tax, 20 cents, and pension tax, 5 cents, a total of $1.68 for all purposes, state county and district. Citizens of Temple will in addition pay the city tax of $1.75, the limit imposed by law, thereby making the total tax rate for this year of $3.43 as compared with $3.30 for 1916.

High Time to Enforce the Food Embargo

EMBARGO PUTS LID ON BORDER

CAN'T GO ACROSS INTERNATIONAL LINE NOW WITH LOAF OF BREAD.

By Associated Press. Brownsville, Tex., July 15.—When President Wilson's embargo on exports became effective today it was realized for the first time here that a five cent loaf of bread could not be exported to Mexico, and that an auto could not cross the international line without first drawing its gasoline and then being pushed across into Mexico where the fuel supply would be renewed if possible.

Hundreds of Matamoros Mexicans who do their early Sunday shopping in Brownsville were not permitted by customs inspectors to carry their bread across. This action was taken, officials said, on demand of headquarters at Laredo that food and grain, on which an embargo was placed, included flour and veal as well as bread.

Burglary at temple was of war variety—seven six shooters are stolen

Special to The News. Temple, July 15.—Harry Lewis, a young white man who claims Cameron as his residence, was brought back from Ardmore, Okla., today in custody of officers to answer to the charge of burglarizing the Brady & Black Hardware company of this city over one month ago. Among the loot taken in the robbery were seven six-shooters, five of which have been recovered. City Marshal Wiley Fisher of Temple worked up the case. Lewis consented to return to Texas without the formality of a requisition.

By Associated Press. Great Lakes, Ill., July 15.—Announcement was made at the U. S. naval training station here today of the promotion to the secretary of the navy of James I. Halley of Dallas, Texas, from chief carpenter to assistant naval constructor for duration of the war.

NEW CHANCELLOR LOOKS LIKE DARK HORSE NOW TO GERMANY'S FACTIONS

By Associated Press. Copenhagen, July 15.—Germany's first commoner, Dr. George Michaelis, a bureaucrat without even a "noble" before his name, has not indicated his policies on reform and peace. Neither might be interpreted as indicating an open mind was to permit representatives of two divergent groups in the reichstag to explain their standpoints, the chancellor listening to conversations conducted by the vice chancellor, Dr. Carl Helfferich and reichstag representatives.

German papers unite in characterizations of his energy and fair mindedness, but reserve their predictions. The papers aligned for the so-called German truce perhaps are a shade more enthusiastic than radical and socialist organs.

Brazos Bill Wishes More Wisdom as Tin Henry Gets Him In Trouble

Mr. Editor of The Waco Morning News:—I have been a reader of your paper for nearly a year and don't see how I could do without it.

And I want to ask you to please print in one corner of your paper just what street must a clodhopper stop his Tin Henry when visiting the city of Waco, or must he leave it out a few miles from town and walk in.

I was in Waco a few days ago and parked my Tin Henry on some street. I don't know which, and when I got back to it a big fellow was standing there with a club large enough to whip a cow pen full of such fellows as me. He said, "Look here, your Tin Henry has been standing here just a few minutes more than an hour which is a five dollar fine. But if you make it out from here right now, you can go."

"Well, I ran it over to another street and was gone just a few minutes when I returned and I found two big policemen each one of them with a big club and they said, "Look here, didn't you know it was a five dollar fine to stop that Tin Henry here on this street?" I said, "No." And one said "Can't you read what that sign says on that post?" I replied that I couldn't read so they said, "Well, you get that thing off this street and you can go."

So I had to leave town before I had hardly seen anything.

And as I would like to see the city of Waco sometime I will ask the editor of this paper to tell me just exactly how to get my Tin Henry in town and not get in jail.

Hoping for an early reply, I am, W. M. DAVIS, (Better Known as "Brazos Bill.")

Johnstown, Pa., July 15.—Edward Humphries, a prominent coal operator, and mine superintendent, formerly of Philadelphia, and his wife and son, Edward Humphries, Jr., were shot to death on a country road near here today. The Humphries family was on an auto ride with George C. Thompson, Jr., of Philadelphia. Thompson took the bodies of Mrs. Humphries and the son to Carrolltown near here and told the officers that the party was held up by masked men.

Food Bill is This Week's Job

APPEARS LIKELY SENATE WILL PASS MEASURE—OTHER BILLS WAITING.

By Associated Press. Washington, July 15.—Disposal of the administration food control bill by the senate under its agreement for a final vote next Saturday comprises the program of congress this week.

The bill will be discussed after Wednesday with speeches under a five minute limit. Prompt agreement of the conferees next week is expected.

This week the administration expects to submit its measure for insuring soldiers and sailors and the house appropriations committee will begin work on a new $2,000,000,000 war budget. Awaiting senate action are the $640,000,000 aviation measure, the $1,670,000,000 war tax bill, the trading the enemy measure and many others of minor importance already passed by the house.

Actual voting upon amendments to the food bill may begin tomorrow. Leaders are confident by partisan conferences and the president's support of the original plan will develop an amended measure limiting government control but with substantial regulatory powers as to food, feed and fuel.

The principal difference now centers about proposals in Senator Gore's substitute which administration leaders are preparing to oppose for legislation restricting federal authorities and providing for the food board and several members instead of a single administrator.

Lead Miner Strike is Still a Deadlock

Special to The News. Flat River, Mo., July 15.—Prospects of settlement of the labor trouble in the southeast Missouri lead belt which this morning appeared bright took a gloomy view tonight. A conference between committee, American horn miners and managers of the mines planned for the afternoon did not take place. Superintendents of all mining companies held a long conference this afternoon.

The best information obtainable as to the result of this conference was that the superintendent agreed that their task was to operate the mines and secure the greatest output possible, that the high wages paid in the lead belt made a large output necessary and a displacement of foreign labor by American labor would reduce the output.

Consequently, they argued, the New York heads of the company must decide whether foreign labor must be replaced. Meanwhile it is understood not attempt will be made to operate the mines.

Cotton Seed Conference Planned at A. & M. College

Special to The News. College Station, July 15.—Director B. Youngblood of the agricultural experiment station has called a conference on names, standards and definitions of cottonseed products. The meeting, which was called at the request of C. C. Littlejohn of Fort Worth, president of the Cottonseed Crushers' association, will take place Friday, July 20, at the Westbrook hotel, Fort Worth.

The most important point to be discussed is whether or not the feed control service shall permit the manufacture of cottonseed "meal" of a low grade, containing an excess of hulls, when the product is to be sold as cottonseed meal with no reference in its name to the hull content.

Ukraine Does Not Want Separate Government in Russia is Latest Demand

By Associated Press. Petrograd, July 15.—The Ukrainian national assembly does not desire separation as Ukraine from Russia, according to official word received here today.

FRENCH-GERMAN BEGIN MIGHTY BATTLES AGAIN

GERMANS, ALSO, HAVE RUSHED AID TO AUSTRO LINE IN THE EAST.

Allies are holding their own say latest reports

GERMANS HAVE TAKEN FRONT LINE TRENCHES BUT WERE EVICTED ELSEWHERE.

By Associated Press. With somewhat of a slackening of the Russian offensive in Galicia, owing to bad weather, French and Germans along the Chemin-de-Dames, and in the Champagne have come together in mighty struggles.

In Champagne north of Monte Haut and northeast of Teton the French captured powerfully organized German entrenchments on a front of more than eight hundred yards and to a depth of more than three hundred yards, and held and consolidated the positions notwithstanding heavy counter attacks in which the Germans suffered heavy casualties and lost 350 men made prisoners.

Bring Up Reserves. Along the Chemin-des-Dames the Germans west of Cerny Saturday night threw heavy forces against the French line. The battle was waged throughout the night, but although the Germans broke through their French line at several places they saw them evicted except from front line trenches of about fifty yards. The Berlin war office claims the capture of 350 prisoners.

In Flanders at various points the British and Germans continue to carry out artillery duels and British have successfully raided some positions.

In Galicia the Russians have driven the Austrians from positions southwest of Kaluf and taken more than a thousand prisoners and many guns. Apparently the Austro-German lines are stiffening as the result of reinforcements for Petrograd records repulse of attacks along the Bobrovian-Novica front and says the enemy has gone on the offensive along the Lomajica river, and is stubbornly resisting the Russians on the other sectors.

British airplanes in France have bombed four railway stations behind the German lines and a large German rest tent. In the fighting three German machines were downed and two others were driven down out of control. Five British machines are missing.

Rumania Again Theatre. There has been little activity on any of the other fronts although the Russians near V in Turkish Armenia have driven the Turks and several positions. It is not improbable that Rumania again may soon become an important theatre in the war as the Berlin official communication announces that an increase in artillery activity is noticeable.

It is unofficially reported that Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, now minister to Denmark, will replace Dr. Alfred Zimmermann as German imperial foreign secretary.

1,200 in Steamer Grounded in Fog

By Associated Press. St. Johns, N. F., July 15.—The Norwegian-American liner, Kristianafjord carrying twelve hundred passengers from an American port, via Halifax to Norway ran aground today seven miles west of Cape Race on the southeastern coast of Newfoundland. It was found necessary to remove the passengers all of whom were landed safely at Port-au-Cove.

The liner lost her bearing during the night in a heavy rain storm which was accompanied by fog.

As there is no accommodation at the landing place for any large number of persons, measures were taken to bring the wrecked passengers here by train. Several steamers had gone to the assistance of the distressed liner, which wireless dispatchers say, is badly damaged.

Chang Hfun's Escape in China was Thrilling and 7 Foreigners were Hurt

By Associated Press. London, July 5.—A belated Reuter dispatch from Peking, dated Thursday, says that after Chang Hfun's escape from the imperial city desultory firing continued on the northern and southern outskirts of that enclosure. Chang Hfun's residence was entirely destroyed by the republican artillery. The dispatch gives the number of foreigners wounded by bullets or shells falling in the legation as seven.

EIGHTH ANNUAL SHORT COURSE AT A. & M. SOON

EXTENSIVE ARRANGEMENTS
BEING MADE FOR AGRICUL-TURAL RESEARCH THERE.

By Associated Press.

College Station, July 15.—Arrangements have already begun here for the eighth annual farmers' short course of the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas, which will open July 26 and end August 4. It is the purpose of the summer session authorities who are in charge of the course to make it a sort of farmers' chautauqua, which, while offering excellent and interesting lecture and demonstration courses, will be an opportunity for the farmers to relax and to meet each other socially. Musicals, parties and a play by the Canning club girls, as well as athletic events such as baseball and basketball games, will help to make the five days of the short course pleasant as well as profitable.

Plan Home Economics.

An important feature of the course will be the work in home economics, arranged especially to meet the needs of country women and girls. The courses will be given by Miss Mary E. Gearing, head of the department of home economics of the University of Texas, and Miss Cornelia Simpson, Miss Kate Lee Healey and Miss Jessie W. Harris of the extension department of the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas. These instructors are all women of ability and experience in their work, and at this time it is urgently necessary that the women of the country districts should study the scientific and yet commonsense house-keeping which they teach. It is this work which, by showing them how to make each pound or each quart of food material do the greatest possible amount of good, offers to American women an opportunity of playing their useful part in the war.

For Country Health.

In the light of the startling but perfectly trustworthy reports from modern investigation and research which prove beyond doubt that the health of country people is infinitely poorer than that of the dwellers in the towns and cities, special interest attaches to the six illustrated lectures on how to keep the country districts clean and healthful, which will be delivered by Dr. P. W. Covington of Austin, the Texas representative of the Rockefeller board of health.

Beside these special features, the short course this year presents a regular agricultural program of great interest and value. Most of the regular college instructors and experts in the school of agriculture have been retained for short course work, and the value of the courses will be greatly enhanced by the personnel of the students themselves, who will include some of the most able and successful farmers in the state, men who have practical ideas and farming experience ready to exchange with those whom they meet at this gathering. The Texas Farmers' congress, famous all over the United States as a great and influential convention of progressive agriculturists, meets during the short course week, from August 1 to August 3, inclusive, and assures the presence at the college of more interesting and prominent farmers than any purely agricultural event could draw to it.

Low Rates Offered.

Those in charge of the farmers' short course have made every possible arrangement for the comfortable and inexpensive entertainment of the visitors. The railroads have offered the exceedingly low rate of 1c a mile to and from College Station. It is hoped that this institution of the farmers' short course will this year carry out more fully and satisfactorily than ever before its mission of bringing Texas agriculturists together for instruction, social relaxation and the profitable and broadening interchange of ideas.

TWO MEN CAME SUNDAY ON ARMY CAMP MATTERS

For the purpose of platting and laying off the pipe lines and supply center of the water system for the Waco army camp, Major Y. B. Hawley of Fort Sam Houston, reached Waco Sunday and will today actively begin his duties.

A topographic survey of the ground already is under way, and Major Hawley expects that this will be completed and the platting done by or a little before the end of the week, as the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible. With this work done it will be possible to put in the water for the camp which is the first consideration. Sewers will come immediately after the water, also lights, telephone and telephone, but the work to which Major Hawley has been specifically assigned is that of getting everything ready for immediate installation of the water system.

Hawley Here Before.

Major Hawley is no stranger in Waco, having been one of the appraisers of the old Bell system of waterworks when it was bought by the city. He then lived in Fort Worth. Major Hawley is stopping at the State House.

A. D. Brinkerhoff of the Southern Traction company also was in Waco from Dallas Sunday. He was looking into the matter of extensions of the street car lines to the camp.

The survey of a right-of-way to the army camp site for the Cotton Belt railroad has almost been completed, ties and spikes are here, and steel is on the road. It is expected that work can begin on the railroad within a very short time. It is understood that the spur track will leave the main line of the Cotton Belt well beyond the Alford Castle, beyond Fortieth street, running in a northwesterly direction, touching the Watt and Buchanan places, and passing west of the aviation grounds, turning in an easterly direction to wards the terminus of its course and passing in near the base hospital which is to be located in the northern part of the Dean addition, not far from the Central Texas Baptist sanitarium.

SECURES OPTIONS ON LAND AND ANTICIPATES VISIT OF ARMY HEADS SOON.

Special to The News.

Belton, July 15.—Belton is in the race for one of the government aviation schools, with very bright prospects of getting it. A rousing meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held at the city hall Friday, presided over by President A. C. Bauer, manager of the Cameron Lumber company of this city.

A telegram was read from Congressman Tom Connally which stated that Belton was being seriously considered and urging the forwarding of the data asked for by the war department without delay. A committee of volunteers to get up the data, to take options on land and to have general management of the proposition was appointed as follows: H. T. Cochran, J. H. Head, C. B. Ward, H. M. Bowen, Harry Brown, R. L. Henderson, J. R. Donnell, C. P. Little, M. V. Smith and Jesse S. Blair.

This committee went to work immediately and have taken options on land for four different sites. The requirement of the government is that there must be as much as 640 acres of land, which the government will lease for a term of years with the privilege of buying. Mayor Neal Bass and H. T. Cochran will go to Washington in Belton's interest.

Waco and Belton are the only two cities in this congressional district which have made applications for this aviation camp, and Belton has been informed that since Waco has the army camp that the citizens of Waco are willing for Belton to have the aviation camp and will favor Belton for the place.

Belton has every advantage to offer for this aviation camp and the preferred sites selected are each most excellent ones. The locating committee from the war department is expected in Belton within the next ten days.

GERMANS LOSE IN LONG FIGHT— RUSSIAN GAIN

By Associated Press.

Paris, July 15.—An organized network of German trenches on a front of more than 200 yards north of Mont-Haut and northwest of Teton in the Champagne was captured by the French in a brilliant attack last night with 360 prisoners, the war office announced today.

The Germans made a heavy attack on the salient west of Cerny on the Aisne front and penetrated to a support trench, but after an all-night battle were ejected from some front-line alignments on a front of about 500 yards.

Berlin reports the capture from the French of important positions on the Chemin-Des-Dames on the Aisne southeast of Eperlecourt along a front of about 1,500 metres and 300 metres deep; 350 prisoners were taken. The substantial repulse of a French attack in the Champagne southeast of Morrenzilliers also is reported.

Attacks yesterday by Russian troops in the Lodzian region southwest of Kalusz in Eastern Galicia resulted in 1,600 men in prisoners and a number of guns. Elsewhere the Russians held their ground against attacks, and took more than 600 additional prisoners.

TROUBLE IS ALMOST OVER NOW SAYS WACO GROCERY MERCHANT

TANLAC RESTORES HEALTH AFTER 16 YEARS SUFFERING, SAYS J. B. DAVIS—WAS SO WEAK HE COULD HARDLY CLIMB UP THE STEPS.

"I was in such a bad fix before I began taking this Tanlac that I could hardly attend to my business," said J. B. Davis, the well known retail grocer at 1827 North Sixth street, a few days ago.

"For sixteen years," continued Mr. Davis, "I suffered terribly from indigestion, neuralgia and rheumatism that made my life miserable. My system was all run down and I was so weak I could hardly get up and down the steps. I had no appetite and the little I did manage to eat didn't seem to strengthen me at all. I didn't sleep well and would get up in the mornings all tired out with such a heavy feeling I could hardly drag one foot after the other."

"In fact, I was just about played out when I noticed the statements in the papers about Tanlac and decided to give it a trial. Almost from the very first I noticed I was getting better, and I have improved right along till I can now eat anything that is put before me and my food tastes good and is giving me new strength and energy. I can go up and down the steps now without any trouble, and exercise and work don't tire me at all and I can attend to my business with more energy than I could before I took Tanlac. The neuralgia and rheumatism are about gone and I am better in every way than I have been in many years. In fact, my troubles are almost over and I wouldn't take any amount for the good Tanlac has done me. I have told several of my friends about it and many of them are taking Tanlac to advantage on my advice, for I consider it the best medicine I have ever had any experience with."

Tanlac is sold in Waco by Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

WOMEN TO TELL CONFEDERATES OF WASHINGTON VISIT

The Matrons of Honor of the Second Texas brigade, Mrs. J. P. Alexander and Mrs. H. H. Crouch, and the sponsor of Pat Cleburne camp, Miss Mamie Davis, will be asked by the Confederate veterans to give their experiences while attending the recent reunion at Washington, D. C. They will appear at the meeting of Pat Cleburne camp on the third Sunday in August for this purpose, according to a request preferred Sunday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Pat Cleburne camp.

Several veterans Sunday afternoon detailed in interesting manner their trip to Washington, among these being Commander C. L. Johnson, Adjutant Bradford Hancock, Comrades E. W. Tarrant, T. B. Cox and Rogers.

The Bohemian Sokols of Waco took the first and third prizes at the tournament of the southern jurisdiction according to word brought back by delegates to this city. Charles Burik took the first prize and Richard Stransky the third. Charles Vana, a former Waco boy, took second place. Eighteen Sokols have passed the rigid physical examination for the United States artillery at Dallas, according to local members of the order.

STOCK BEETS GROW FINE ON HILTON PLACE

Stock Beets grown on the J. E. Hilton farm near Speepleville are exciting much interest at the Chamber of Commerce. Many are wondering why these beets could not be grown with such as to form a new feature of the stock industry in this country.

Mr. Hilton states that literally tons of the beets may be grown on one acre of ground which is adapted to their cultivation. They make fine hog feed and stock are very fond of them.

CAME FROM MICHIGAN TO ENLIST IN WACO

Coming all the way from Flint, Mich., where he had a fine position with the Buick automobile people, J. Bryce Bailey, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Bailey, joined the coast artillery and will be with friends in the service of his country.

Mr. Bailey felt that he wanted to be among those that he knew, and as Waco was his old home, he came here to enlist. He now is a member of the organization formed by Hal Hayes and others.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Several Folks Are Puzzled.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Several folks were puzzled, very much puzzled. Farmer Brown was puzzled. Mrs. Brown was puzzled. Farmer Brown's boy was puzzled. Jimmy Skunk was puzzled. And all were puzzled by the same thing. Yes, sir, all were puzzled by the same thing. Jimmy Skunk was in Farmer Brown's cellar. It had been easy enough to get in there. But how was he to get out again? That is the thing that was puzzling all of them.

Now Jimmy Skunk wasn't one bit more anxious to get out of that cellar than Farmer Brown and Mrs. Brown and Farmer Brown's boy were to have him get out. If there was nothing for Jimmy to eat down there there was a great deal that others wanted to eat, but which they couldn't get while Jimmy was there because—well, to tell the truth, they didn't care to go down to get those things they wanted and needed while Jimmy was there. They were afraid of that little bag of scent he always carries with him and is so ready to use if he thinks that any harm is intended. They didn't want to harm Jimmy, but they were afraid he would think they did, which would amount to the same thing.

"I tell you what it is, Mother," said

Farmer Brown's boy, "you leave the door from the kitchen to the cellar open and the door out of doors open and perhaps Jimmy Skunk will come up the cellar stairs and so find his way out."

But Mrs. Brown just threw up her hands in dismay at the very idea. It was bad enough to have Jimmy in the cellar. As for giving him a chance to get into her kitchen, even if only to pass through it, she wouldn't listen to such a thing.

"Then I'll make a box-trap and set it down there for him," said Farmer Brown's boy.

But Mrs. Brown wouldn't listen to this either. "You would have to go down there in order to set it and just as likely as not he would use that scent of his while you were there, and it is so strong that there would be no living in the house then. No, sir, nobody goes into that cellar while that Skunk is there!"

Farmer Brown proposed that he take the terrible gun and shoot Jimmy from the cellar window, but Farmer Brown's boy wouldn't listen to that because right down in his heart he was sorry for Jimmy. You see he really is a friend of Jimmy. Besides he didn't think that Jimmy had done anything that deserved anything so terrible as to be killed. The truth is Farmer Brown's boy had a feeling of something very like sympathy for Jimmy Skunk. He had been in trouble more than once through inquisitiveness himself. He had a sort of fellow feeling for Jimmy Skunk and he wouldn't listen to having him killed, whereas Farmer Brown himself was secretly pleased.

All right, son," said he, "if you won't let him be killed it is for you to get him out. It would be better to shoot him down there, and starve to death than let him get out. Besides, there are things in that cellar which we want. What are you going to do about it?"

"I'm going out to the barn to think it over," replied Farmer Brown's boy, and out to the barn he went.

For the American Woman

COOK VS. DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

By Mary E. Walter.

This man's letter is self-explanatory: "I am a bachelor of 45. For fifteen years I have lived in a city hotel where the dining room and restaurant afforded me the best of food with no need of domestic bother except to eat when hungry what my appetite demanded, and pay the bills, which were sometimes steep for a one-man concern."

"Not till the papers began talking of Herbert C. Hoover's food conservation campaign did I realize that there is such a thing as scientific eating, and a scientific meal which exactly fills human needs, nor had I seen before that I was constantly guilty of innumerable food errors and extravagances. On that I went to a school where domestic science courses are taught, found a teacher who is recognized authority on all science in finding out about food and feeding. Telling her I had a large and healthy appetite, I bargained with her to work out for me a thirty-day schedule of three meals a day, all different, properly balanced in fats, carbohydrates, proteins, etc., with the number of calories that, according to my weight and age, I needed to make me 100 per cent efficient mentally and physically. I asked her to give also the recipe for each dish, indicating the proportion of each ingredient to maintain the balance of the food elements. All this she did and declared her schedule was adjusted to perfect nourishment and included also every provision for flavor and palatability.

"Next I rented a flat with a specially well-equipped kitchen. I sent to an employment agency for the most intelligent and efficient cook they had. She came, a woman of about 50, declaring herself a 'thorough cook of thirty years' experience, who had always given satisfaction and never failed to hold a place. She presented a stack of references. Enthusiastically I gave her my food tables and recipes. I told her they were built on scientific principles, tested, proven, that I had determined to eat right and wished her to conduct my cuisine on this basis and she was to buy and cook accordingly. She smiled and went to work. For a day or two her meals were delicious, but showed no resemblance to the scientific menu. I hinted that she hadn't obeyed orders. She boldly said she hadn't; that she noticed, nevertheless, that I had devoured her cooking. She declared my orders had been an insult to her professional ability. She repeated her former statements about 'thoroughness' and 'best families' and 'satisfaction.' She de-

BERT ROBERTS IS IN SANITARIUM; N. SPIVEY JAILED

Bert Roberts, young farmer of the Levi neighborhood, is in Providence sanitarium with a pistol wound in his right side and another in his left leg, his condition being rather serious.

Nick Spivey, also a farmer, is in the McLean county jail awaiting a turn in Roberts' condition to determine his status in a complaint which will be filed, charging him with shooting Roberts. Deputy Sheriff J. M. Morgan went to Levi Sunday morning and arrested Spivey. The shooting took place between 1 and 2 o'clock Sunday morning, but Waco officers were not immediately notified. An automatic pistol, 25-calibre, was used by Spivey.

PLAN INNOVATION IN HOLDING CONFERENCES

The third quarterly conference of six Methodist churches in Waco will be held next Friday night at the Methodist tabernacle, corner of Fifteenth and Morrow streets.

This probably will be the first time that so many of the churches have combined in holding their quarterly conferences, but a comparison of notes can be made by this means, and the plan is being enthusiastically received. Presiding Elder J. A. Whitehurst will be in charge of the gatherings.

TERRIBLY SICK WOMAN

Surgical Operation Thought Necessary, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her.

Madison, Wis.—"I was a terribly sick woman for over three years. I suffered with terrible pains in my back and was about to have an operation when a friend said to me, 'Before having that operation just try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let the operation wait, and my husband bought me the Vegetable Compound and it has made me a well woman and we have a lovely baby girl. We cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, and I hope this letter will lead other suffering women to try it."

—Mrs. BENJAMIN F. BLAKE, R.F.D. No. 5, Box 22, Madison, Wis.

There must be more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Blake, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak and ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

All women are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

clared scornfully she had never heard of calories and proteins and such foolishness, that had nothing to do with good meals, nor had any of the perfectly proper ladies she had served ever mentioned such things.

"Patiently I elucidated 'calories,' etc. Tactfully I hinted that 'taste didn't indicate scientific cooking.' But the forty-dollar cook asserted that nobody had ever died on her cooking, that she had 'never even heard of scientific cooking' and 'how could a scientist know more than a cook who had been cooking all her life?' In vain I argued general ignorance of right eating. She replied that the human race had lived a long time on unscientific eating and finally fired at me, 'I'm leaving when my week's up. I never could please a bug like you. And take it from me, no THOROUGH cook will ever bother with your scientific stuff!'"

The Girl's Job

GIVING AN EVENING.

By Jessie Roberts.

"What evening do you give?" I heard one girl in a big downtown office ask another.

"Fridays. All the expert stenographers give Friday evenings. Aren't you going to give an evening?"

"Friday for mine, I'll be there sure next week."

Of course I wanted to find out all about it. And then I discovered that a great many of the girls busy all day at office work, or teaching, or in any of a number of different business positions, clubbed together and went in batches to do work for the foreign wounded, for the Red Cross, and for several other forms of war relief work.

Some of these girls put in their evenings knitting, or making clothes for the destitute children and women in the devastated regions of France, Poland, Belgium. Others roll bandages. Some are taking special courses in wireless. Some give two evenings a week.

There is not one among us all who cannot give one evening of each week to helping her country or helping the war harassed sufferers who are our allies. The thing to do is to correlate your efforts with a group, preferably a group doing the same sort of work that you do.

Make it your job to go and find an organization ready to use you and any one you bring. There are plenty of them, the Y. W. C. A., the many relief associations, the suffrage party, the National League for Women's Service. See what is wanted, and then get your group together, have one evening a week assigned to you, and spend that evening in service.

This is real and efficient patriotism, and women all over this great country are practicing it.

NAVS WON FIRST GAME BY HITTING; TOSSE OFF SECOND

SOMEBODY PULLS PRIZE BONER IN LAST CONTEST AND PANTHERS WIN.

By POP BOONE.

Well, we got an even break where we ought to have got 'em both. But you don't always get what you ought to have got, as King Lardner's bushy would say. After failing to get the "breaks" for several weeks these elusive necessities of winning games came wandering home again Sunday, Waco taking the first 8 to 4 and handing the second to the Panthers 4 to 2.

That was a funny play which gave the visitors the short stuff. In the fourth inning Stow singled and stole second while Whitaker was fanning. Bittle was safe on Grubb's error. Stow taking third. With Kitcher at bat, little on first and Stow on third, the Panthers staged a squeeze. Zinn batted the squeeze up and Stow was caught between third and home.

It was a mighty one-sided battle that followed. Harkins was on the plate and while Grubb, Tanner, Zinn, Wotell and one of two others were protecting third base, imagine that situation and you can get an idea of what third base happened. Stow slipped past Harkins, not over fifteen feet from third and there wasn't a soul between him and the plate. In the meantime, little had trotted around to third and scored on the next ball pitched—a wild one.

And there went the old ball game. It looked like Waco's game when Fort Worth tossed off a great chance to see it up in the first inning. They made two singles, drew two walks and a passed ball and failed to make a tally.

Bernsen's hard luck hitting was a feature of the game. In the opener James and Wotell picked long drives off the fence for him. In the second game, with two men on, he hit a line drive to left. Kitcher thought Wotell was going to go for a catch and stuck at second. But Mike, who looked good through both games, laid back, batted the ball on the hop and by a quick throw to Grubb forced Kitcher, thus knocking Bernsen out of a clean hit. On his next visit to the plate the Panther first baseman sent Miller to the flag pole for a circus catch.

Waco looked more like themselves in the first game than they have in some weeks. Fort Worth was out in the first three runs in the first inning on three walks and two hits. But the Naves came right back at 'em. Miller led off with a triple to right center and Wotell singled to left. Leslie walked. The score was tied on an error by Woodall and a single by Tanner.

After that the Naves just kept hitting the ball. In the third they made six hits off Applegate and Peritt for only two runs. The scores:

NICE TIME HAD BY ALL AT THE TEAMSTERS' BALL. New York, July 15.—Everything was going as merrily as a joy ride yesterday morning at the ball of Local No. 553 of the Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' Union at the Manhattan Casino when somebody said something that offended Miss Mary Knoss, 22, of No. 792 Columbus-av. Miss Knoss, the men with her and those who had angered her hurried into Eighth-av. to learn who was who.

Affairs started at full speed, Robert Fishback, bookkeeper, No. 118 W. 109-st. and Frank Moran, clerk, 18, No. 43 W. 98-st. are in Harlem hospital. The three have dangerous knife wounds and all are charged with felonious assault.

Miss Knoss, James Fitzgerald, No. 441 West 32nd. This was the first of a series of three games to decide the championship between these two teams which have been having a lively tilt on the baseball diamond this year.

MT. CALM DEFEATS RIESEL IN FIRST THREE GAMES

Mt. Calm defeated Riesel Saturday in a baseball game at Mt. Calm by a score of 7 to 1. This was the first of a series of three games to decide the championship between these two teams which have been having a lively tilt on the baseball diamond this year.

A New Walloper.

By ROBERT L. RIPLEY.

Walter Cruise, the unknown leader of the National league batting race, is the most unlucky ball player on the diamond! We don't mean to say that he is unlucky to be the leading hitter of his league, but that he might have been the leading hitter several years ago if not beset by Old Kid Misfortune.

Cruise, who has been alternating with Roush of Cincinnati, as the best batter in the Tenser circuit, the now famous Reputation league, has suffered from many injuries as did Al Kool-gast in the prize ring. Cruise started his baseball career, and his career of hard luck at the same time. Cruise is a southerner like Joe Jackson and he looks more like Joe Jackson than any other ball player. Walter came from Sylacauga, Ala., twenty-seven years ago. He always was a ball player—even though he did attend Columbia College in Lake City, Fla., in an attempt to become a veterinarian. Also, Cruise always was a batter. He "swung" the heaviest bat in the minors for five years. He simply grasped the old ash by the extreme end and shut his eyes and leaned on 'em.

The Giant sent Detroit both grabbed him and Connie Mack was but one day late in an attempt to enlist him in the cause of the Athletics.

He went to St. Louis by chance. One day the Jacksonville team played the Cardinals an exhibition game before the season opened in 1914. Cruise had a great day—wonderful catches, two home runs and all that sort of thing. Miller Huggins took but one look and signed him on the spot.

Cruise's misfortunes kept him back. Here are a few of the most serious: In 1911 in the Cotton States league he was spilt on the foot and blood poisoning set in which almost caused the amputation of that member and did incapacitate him for a month. His ankle was operated on four times.

When with Jacksonville, in 1913, he broke his leg sliding home—and was out of the game for the season. While with Milwaukee, in 1915, he was "beamed" in a most serious manner. Later, he ran into the fence in pursuit of a fly ball and broke his sun glasses and cut his eye severely. Later he broke two ribs, threw his thumb out of joint, dislocated his shoulder and sprained his arm. He was out only one day—playing the season out with his ribs broken.

The day before the season opened in 1916, Walter ran into Roger Hornsby and tore his collar bone loose from his sternum. This injury kept him out of the Cardinals line-up last year. He did play some ball for the St. Paul club and was going good when Huggins ordered him to report to St. Louis. He immediately injured his foot and was unable to do so until this year.

Cruise hit the longest home run ever hit in big league baseball. He drove one of Pat Ragan's curves way up into the center of the right field bleachers in Braves' Park, Boston. This looks like an impossibility from the grandstand. The distance was measured and found to be more than 500 feet!

WORK STARTED ON DE LEON NEW PEANUT FACTORY

Information secured from parties who have been in De Leon recently is to the effect that work has already started on the big new peanut factory at that place. It will cost about $75,000 and a five story brick building is part of the plan regarding the plant. A cotton compress also is being moved from Cisco to De Leon. It is reported to be installed for the business of next fall. A report from De Leon is that that section has the "best balance" crops of that portion of Texas.

Shreveport, July 15.—Shreveport took a double header from the Bronchos today, the first game by scoring two runs in the ninth and the second game after a seven inning pitchers' battle in which Gleason had the edge over Cockerham by one hit and one run.

PENNY CHANGE! MRS. HOUSEWIFE DO YOU GET IT?

WOMEN AT THE STATE
CAPITOL HAVE DONE.

BY ANNE AUSTIN.

Since war prices began, the housewives of Waco have been paying 100 per cent more for certain articles than formerly. For instance, a box of crackers that used to sell at 5c now retails for 10c. The grocer hesitates after telling you the price, and then says, reluctantly, "Or two for 15c." He holds on like grim death to that nickel extra. He doesn't want to split it. I have asked some of them if they could sell the box of crackers for 5c and still make a fair profit. They admit that they could, but that "we don't deal much in pennies down South." When I ask why, they merely shrug their shoulders and fall to answer.

Is there any woman in Waco in these strenuous times, who can afford to pay from 2c to 3c needlessly on a 5c article?

Some such question agitated the women in Austin and they, as the Housewives' league, have taken the matter up seriously. They are publishing the names of grocers who will give penny change. With the proper co-ordination of women the same result could be achieved here.

Mrs. Frederick Eby, a prominent Austin woman, and a member of the Housewives' league of Austin, is in Waco, and I interviewed her relative to the organization which is already making itself felt in the economic situation of Austin.

The Housewives' league was the inspiration of a few women, under the leadership of Mrs. O. H. Bond, who is now secretary of the league. The high cost of living had passed from jest to deadly earnest and these women felt the necessity for concerted action. They called a mass meeting of women in a public hall and the hall was packed with housewives who had found that the weekly budget was stretched to the breaking point. Mrs. R. C. Roberson was elected president, Mrs. Charles G. Norton, vice president, and Mrs. O. H. Bond, secretary.

Good Work Accomplished.

From the moment of its birth, the Housewives' league has been a strong, healthy, working organization. Unlike most organizations, it does not exist on paper alone. In the three months of its life it has graduated out of the infant stage into maturity. To its credit is the municipal market, a thing for which Waco fought valiantly, through the Lions' club, but failed on account of too persistent opposition on the part of the bucksters. Mrs. R. M. Thompson and Miss Emma Burleson have worked tirelessly in the interest of a municipal market, and through their efforts and those of others, Travis Square was obtained and the market established. It is open from 8 until 9 o'clock in the evenings. A morning opening was tried, but the evening was found to be more satisfactory. The market is open all day Saturday. Truck farmers have found in this direct sale and the housewives that they get fresher vegetables at a much more reasonable price. The commission man loses his profits, but he is the only loser. Of course this market was not established without serious opposition being first encountered and then overcome. But the fact remains—the women of Austin have won the best thing to its credit in years, a real, profitable, satisfactory municipal market.

City Co-operated.

They had the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce. Such men as Commissioner Davis and Mr. Dolores of the pure food department of Austin addressed the women, showing them the advantages to be gained through the plan. Postal cards were sent to practically every housewife in Austin. Nothing was left undone by those energetic women to insure unqualified success.

And now the women say that they must have penny change. They say that it is not fair for the poverty-stricken people of the city to be compelled to pay 100 per cent increase in food costs when 50 per cent would give the merchant a reasonable profit.

After Penny Change.

Already a long string of merchants are on the honor list of those who have come in on this plan. Others will be forced to come in to protect themselves. Pennies are beginning to loom big to American women, who have hitherto tossed them aside or fed them to the children as candy money.

Waco can and should have such a league. What has been done for Austin should be done for Waco. The women of Waco can no more afford to waste pennies than the women of Austin. We need a municipal market just as badly as the state capital. When it is the welfare of the home that is at stake, the women are the logical ones to do the fighting for it. A member of the Lions' club said to me, "If we had had the co-operation of the women when we were making a fight for the municipal market, there would be one on Eighth and Austin streets today. But the truck farmers wanted to be sure that their produce would be bought if they turned down the commission men."

If there are any women interested in a movement to organize a Housewives' league, Mrs. Eby would be glad to help in the organization of one.

BETTER BUSINESS IN SIGHT, THINK TEXAS TRAVELERS

A presage of Waco's awakened activities and a fast growth for fall and winter resulted in Sunday's session of the Texas Travelers, when six new enrollments were recorded and President J. W. Barnett announced a speedy return to labors of men on the road.

W. B. Goolsby predicted a doubling in membership before January 1, 1918, owing to the splendid features of the Texas Travelers and the good being done in hotel, transportation, employment, fraternal and benevolent matters. Charles Hulme was elected to membership.

Following applications were received yesterday and reported favorably: J. G. Vandenberg, Ocean Park, Cal.; James M. Wyatt, E. T. Knight, C. L. Massey, L. B. Jones and Alva Butler.

Chairman B. R. Mason of the committee named to appear in Austin before the railroad commission in the matter of interchangeable mileage bearing reported having visited Austin on July 10, but due to the illness of Mr. Mayfield of the commission the hearing was postponed to August 11. The Texas Travelers are co-operating with other organizations of traveling men in securing proper transportation facilities for the men of the road.

E. A. Schmitt of San Antonio, chairman of the hotel committee, was presented and submitted a report of investigation of hotels of the state and improvements that have been made in service and safety installations at the request of the Texas Travelers.

Frank Brackin was added to the membership committee in recognition of services performed.

Secretary Charles B. Ivy of the U. C. T.s, who is also treasurer of the Texas Travelers, announced that the former organization would have a watermelon feast at Cameron park next Saturday evening, to which the Texas Travelers and families were invited; that while watermelon would predominate the ladies will also bring fried chicken, pies, etc., and a good time would be enjoyed.

Optimistic letters were read from Bob Evans of Dublin, L. L. Ballard, A. W. Percy, N. W. Flaisig of California and other members, congratulating the order on its present strength numerically and financially and for the work being done.

Interesting talks were made by James M. Wyatt, E. A. Schmitt, Vice President M. L. Smith, President J. W. Barnett, Past President J. S. McClintock, Frank Brackin and others, the general trend of which was a big fall business over Texas.

PROTESTS AGAINST DRY CLOSETS AND SURFACE WELLS
—IMPROVEMENT NEEDED

In these days of intense heat, Dr. C. E. Collins, bacteriologist and guardian of the city's water, now comes to the front with a warning to the city on its present sanitation conditions and the impending danger that the deadly typhoid fever constantly keeps before the doors of Waco citizens.

According to Dr. Collins this is the particular time of the year when typhoid should be constantly guarded against. At present there are but few cases in the city. With proper care and prevention, says Dr. Collins, there should be but little trouble during the late summer and the early fall.

According to Dr. Collins a very dangerous source of typhoid are the many dry closets particularly on the edges of the city.

"Of the many that I have seen I have yet to see the first one that is properly screened and protected from the flies," said Dr. Collins.

Further, he added that he did not know whether there exists a city ordinance against such dangerous nuisances, but said that if there is it is useless for it isn't enforced. He says that from experimental tests it has been found that a fly can carry as many as 5,000,000 germs on its feet and body. These may be typhoid germs if the fly comes in contact with them. That the dry closet is the harbor for the fly, and further that the closet is the home of the typhoid bacillus is indisputable.

"So from these facts," added Dr. Collins, "it is obvious that our city authorities should see that these dry closets are at least screened.

Against Surface Wells.

Another nuisance and danger to the public health are the many surface wells existing in the city limits, according to the report of Dr. Collins. He says:

"I analyzed the water from about seventy-five of these wells the last two years and out of that number found that about 80 per cent of these were contaminated with colon bacilli, and therefore were dangerous to drink for the danger of acquiring typhoid. You understand in the typhoid analysis we look for the colon bacilli, for wherever these are found typhoid germs are always present. The wells are contaminated by the surface drainage, the sewage from the closets and the other substances present. I inspected one surface well last year and found that there were 1,000 'bugs' or bacteria in fifteen drops of the water and of this 1,000 over 100 were colon bacilli, thereby showing that the water was dangerous to be used without boiling. At that very time there were four cases of typhoid fever at this one residence, and the family still persisted to use the impure water. It is not clear water that is always pure, for the clearest water may be the most impure."

"Now there are numerous other sources that need watching. Fruits and vegetables if not properly protected are likewise very dangerous. Experiments have shown that vegetables coming from infected lands are as dangerous as those in the process of delivery and consumption. But the greatest of all food damages for harmful bacteria is milk. By all means the sanitary conditions of milk should be zealously watched. The cows should be examined, the milking utensils, the workmen, and lastly all means and processes of distribution.

"At the present time it is noticed that these dangers are not properly watched in the city, but for the protection of the people as a whole they should be."

CITY FORRESTER OF DALLAS
TO COME TO WACO SOON

E. A. White returned last week from Dallas where he has been on an extended visit. Mr. White is a member of the committee named by the Lions' club recently on tree preservation in Waco. While in Dallas Mr. White enjoyed the hospitality of J. H. McGinnis, city forrester of Dallas, who took him on a three-hour trip through Dallas, showing him what that city was doing for the preservation of its trees. Mr. McGinnis told Mr. White he would be ready at any time to accept an invitation from the Lions' club to come to Waco and outline methods and plans for tree preservation in this city.

INDIVIDUALS EXTEND
WELCOME TO GUARDSMEN

D. E. Hirschfield, wishing to extend a personal welcome to the troops of Michigan and Wisconsin which are coming to Waco, has written letters to parties in those states who will mention the fact that letters are being sent.

Probably others will follow the example of Mr. Hirschfield, and thus extend an individual as well as a general welcome. Speaking of some of the benefits of the quartering here of troops from more northerly latitudes, Dr. Charles Watson said: "Hundreds of parents who have boys in the national guard of Michigan and Wisconsin will pay a visit to Waco during the winter months, to see their sons and to have a look at Waco and Texas. The advantage of such a condition is too apparent to need stressing."

Amusements

"WILD AND WOOLLY"
AT HIPPODROME.

With his usual jovial smile, Douglas Fairbanks, the popular film hero appears in his second Aftercraft production, "Wild and Woolly," at the Hippodrome, today only. As the name implies, "Wild and Woolly" is a story of the great plains. It is figured strongly with wild Indians, cow punchers and six-shooters—but they are only players in a magnificent practical joke devised for the benefit of a youth from New York. Critics agree that "Wild and Woolly" is the best of all Fairbanks' efforts.

The athletic star appears as a youth who trots along the confines of the city in anticipation of the day when he will sit astride a bucking broncho and shoot Indians. His version of Arizona is based entirely on the gaudy covers of dime novels which he has read diligently since boyhood.

One day the youth's opportunity comes and he journeys west. His welcome together with ensuing events form a thrilling and amusing climax.
